

Greetings!

What happens when an artist wins a prestigious grant to work in China for a year and her husband hops on scooter to mosey around America? The voice of the other; a cheerful, warming greeting comes from the phone across thousands of miles and local times separated by half a day.

“Good morning!”

“Good evening!”

And they decide to try a blog.