

So it's not all work here. We go on excursions too. After our first exam we had hot pot for lunch. Then we went to the Summer Palace which is located within a huge park in Beijing.

My teacher stretching a noodle before adding it to a steaming pot of broth.

Here are some pictures I took of the Summer Palace. You can see nearly the same shots on wikipedia, but this will save you the click. It was beautiful here and nice to spend a few hours walking around outside.

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Summer Palace

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Relaxing at the Summer Palace

Inside the temple within the Summer Palace.